

Changes caused by People

People are a part of nature, but people can decide what changes they make. Some of our changes help nature while others hurt it. Accidents happen, people make mistakes because they don't know better, but usually we have a choice.

Now, let's add people to our picture of nature. Look at the picture below and at the picture on the previous page. What changes have people made? There are at least 10 changes. Can you find them all?

Describe the changes caused by people that you found. Use complete sentences.
